Jesus: The King of Kings and Lover of Lepers. The way Jesus Himself interacted with leprosy victims is a great illustration of God's compassion for us. Jesus lived in a highly superstitious time, when most people believed that leprosy was the result of a curse or of some incorrigible and hidden sin — not unlike modern Eastern religious systems that teach that your current place in life is the direct result of the karma, or lack thereof, in your previous life.

The God With Dirty Hands - FaithGateway

But despite the Christian belief that Jesus was both fully God and fully man, Jesus was a rather dirty God. He was the “earthly” son of a carpenter, and life in the first-century was both more...
