~~The Geometry book I used was part of the Houghton Mifflin Modern School Mathematics /Structure and Method series of texts used by my school district in the middle 1970's. Going through this book, I noted quite a few similarities between this version and the early 1970's edition I used in school.~~

~~Easy to read, Geometry, by Ray C. Jurgensen far surpasses the content found in many of today's Geometry textbooks. Each chapter begins with a visual, tied into the subject of the text itself. Exercises are simple, yet effective in teaching the material in print form to readers .Each chapter contains an algebra review, which is a skill that is lacking in most high school geometry students.~~

"Old Sayings I Just Made Up 2" is a continuation of the first book, "Old Sayings I Just Made Up." These sayings are keen, condensed observations of human behavior in usually less than 140 characters, the limit of characters allowable on Twitter. Social media was the impetus. It provided an outlet for Professor Ray Grant to share short but powerful observations on human behavior especially during this time in world history. It is such an unique time because nearly everyone is communicating on a constant basis through their smartphones and computers -- every waking minute. Everyone has their unique opinion on everything from politics to personal improvement to parenthood. The range of social discussions are endless, and here in "Old Sayings I Just Made Up 2," Professor Ray Grant captures beautifully many thoughts we may have had, said or thought. It is like he's reading our minds or giving our minds the appropriate thoughts and fodder so that if or when we encounter similar situations or circumstances again, we will be prepared to give our own more insightful thoughts and ideas.

The first book in a family saga following the Luciano family. An accidental killing. A coverup. An undeserved jail sentence. A "ghost" from the family's past. And that's just the first book of the series!
