Now, let's turn to using authentic resources to teach grammar in context. ACTFL, in its Core Practices for World Language Learning, practice number 5 states "teach grammar as concept and use in context," encouraging students to focus first on meaning and later on form. For teaching grammar as concepts in meaningful contexts, ACTFL recommends that: *Grammar should be addressed within meaningful communicative contexts as one element of language proficiency.

In formal language theory, a context-free grammar (CFG) is a formal grammar in which every production rule is of the form $A \rightarrow \alpha$ where A is a single nonterminal symbol, and α is a string of terminals and/or nonterminals (can be empty). A formal grammar is considered "context free" when its production rules can be applied regardless of the context of a nonterminal.
